

I would like to briefly express my concerns over plans to change broadcast ownership rules. Allowing large corporations to own even more radio stations than they already do own will further limit the voices, ideas, and sounds heard in each region. This limits the discourse of ideas and serves only the corporations, not the common citizen. The airwaves belong to all of us, not to a select few conglomerates. Please do not change broadcast ownership rules.

Thank you for your time

Michael Simon